مجتمع مسکونی

خانه، جایی میان خاطره و فراموشی است.

خانه برای من همیشه مفهومی فراتر از یک سازه‌ی فیزیکی بوده؛ جایی میان خاطره و فراموشی، میان تعلق و بی‌جایی.

از کودکی، مادرم نگاهم را به خانه‌ها تغییر داد. او باور داشت که هر خانه برکتی دارد و پیش از ورود، با نیایش و نیتی روشن، می‌توان انرژی آن فضا را متحول کرد. آن روزها این کار برایم شبیه یک آیین کودکانه بود، اما بعدها فهمیدم که خانه زنده است — زمین زنده است — و در خود نوعی الوهیت پنهان دارد.

مادرم همیشه می‌گفت: «چیزی را که با نیت خیر ساخته‌ای، می‌تواند برکت را به زندگی دیگران وارد کند.»

با همین باور، شروع به دوختن خانه‌های پارچه‌ای کردم؛ خانه‌هایی با نیت‌هایی مشخص: آرامش، امنیت، حضور. این خانه‌ها کم‌کم به دست دیگران رسیدند، بخشی از زندگی‌شان شدند، و من آرام‌آرام دیدم که چطور نیت در عمل، معنا پیدا می‌کند.

«مجتمع مسکونی» پروژه‌ای است درباره‌ی فضاهایی که هم آغوش جمع‌اند و هم مملو از تنهایی. درباره‌ی پنجره‌هایی که شاید هرگز باز نشدند، دیوارهایی که صداها و احساسات را در خود نگه داشته‌اند، و درهایی که بسته‌اند اما هنوز منتظرند.

در این پروژه، خانه نه فقط یک مکان، بلکه حامل نیت، خاطره، انرژی و حضور است. این نمایشگاه تلاشی است برای نگاهی دوباره به خانه‌ها — نه فقط به فرم‌شان، بلکه به روحی که درون آن‌ها جاری است.

Residential Complex

A house is a space suspended between memory and forgetting.

To me, a house has always been more than just a physical structure.

It is a space caught between belonging and displacement, a vessel of memory, emotion, and presence.

From childhood, my mother taught me to look at houses differently.

She believed every home carries a blessing — that before entering, a quiet prayer or intention could shift the energy of the place.

At the time, it felt like a ritual or a game. But later, I came to understand: the earth is alive, sacred even, and each home holds a hidden sanctity.

My mother used to say, “Anything made with good intention brings blessings into people’s lives.”

With that in mind, I began sewing fabric houses — each one infused with a specific intention: peace, safety, presence.

They found their way into people’s homes and lives, and I began to witness how intention could truly take form.

Residential Complex is a project about shared spaces that are at once collective and deeply solitary.

It’s about windows that may have never opened, walls that have absorbed not only sound but also feeling, and doors that remain closed — yet somehow still wait.

In this work, the house is not merely a structure, but a container of intention, memory, and silent energy.

Every building, shaped by its inhabitants and their awareness, holds the potential to become sacred.

Exhibition invites us to look again — not just at the shape of our homes, but at the spirit flowing within them.
